

Newsletter August 2010.

As promised I herewith inform you about the latest developments within FILMOOR. Today we can tell you that we did filtration projects for the nature-biogas application and...with success!

Now we deliver a complete range of all nature- and biogas filter elements in stainless steel.

We build as compact as possible and we deliver according all relevant requirements for all pressure systems and that means for >1bar for the experts among you, according the so called P.E.D. 97/23/EG and CE0620.

Hereunder you can see some photos of the filter element and the filter house.

Before long we will finish 2 other projects. In the next Newsletter we will inform you again and so some photos of these bigger systems as well.

When you want to know more about this or about anything that has to do with filtration please do not hesitate to call us.

The FILMOOR TEAM

